

Will Offset Some Of Prop 2½

Andover's Cherry Sheet Figures Are Up $1 Million

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The state aid formula debated at length in the state house this year has left Andover with $4.3 million in state aid, according to the state's "cherry sheets" released last weekend. That represents an increase of more than $1 million over fiscal 1981.

It is also $640,000 more than the town had estimated in its budget this year, as acting Town Manager and Director of Finance and Budget Tony Torrisi predicted recently.

A total of $1.9 billion in estimated state aid will go to the 351 cities, towns and regional school districts for the new fiscal year, according to a news release from the Massachusetts Department of Revenue. The cities and towns will receive $257.2 million more than last year, to help make up for the losses imposed by Proposition 2½.

While it may appear that Andover's $1 million increase in state aid totally offsets its $1 million of lost revenues due to 2½, Torrisi emphasizes that that is not the case.

Approximately $600,000 of the aid represents the state's share of the $13.72 million school building program, he explains. The state, through its School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB), is funding 50 percent of the principal and 20 percent of the interest costs of the bonds to fund the project.

Criteria Set For Reviewing 'Unsafe' Streets

By Linda S. Corbett

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert and Transportation Assistant Kathleen Casey this week released a list of streets that will be included in the "walker" category, come the beginning of school, and the criteria developed by the school and police departments to determine if those streets are 'safe.'

Seifert also called for a greater pooling of community effort to resolve any problems brought on by cutbacks in school busing and the 100 percent increase in the number of walkers. Approximately 1000 walkers from last year will be joined by 1100 to 1200 more in September.

Seifert once again encouraged parents who are concerned about the safety of their areas for walkers, to describe their particular situations in writing. Their appeals will be investigated by a special safety committee, using the criteria describe below.

He said, however, that he felt the "real safety problems," where some form of town-provided bus service would have to be reinstated, were going to be "few and far between."

Meanwhile, a number of other activities are underway throughout the community:

1. PTO presidents and volunteer parents are working with the school department to set-up independent buses to be paid for by

Recycling Gaining Each Week

The new system of recycling in Andover is now in its third collection week, and pickups are proceeding according to schedule.

The recycled materials collected during the week of July 20 amounted to only half of what had been collected the week of July 6, when Riles' Recycling worked until 4 p.m. Saturday to collect the mountains of paper and glass many Andover residents had put out for them. In the second week the recyclers were still working longer hours than expected, but each pick-up day has seen a gain in efficiency.

Plans are still being worked out for better service to difficult access areas of town—those on narrow dead-end roads and hills where it is not possible for the truck driver with a trailer full of glass to turn around.

Fran and Mike Reilly of Riles' Recycling believe that they could offer cleaner, more efficient service to the people of Andover if the following requests were observed:

- Put recyclables far enough apart from trash to make it easier to tell which is which—preferably with trash on one side of the driveway and recyclables on the other.

- Do not put any recyclables in plastic bags.

• If possible, use reusable containers for bottles. They can be readily spotted if marked, either with indelible marker or the Andover Recycles stickers available at Town Hall. Do not put lids on your reusable containers.

- Stack newspapers and magazines neatly and tightly in double grocery bags or ties with string for ease in handling. Do not put them in boxes.

- Put recyclables where they will not be standing in gutters or puddles if it rains.

- Don't include large panes of broken glass such as windows and storm doors as they are difficult and dangerous for the recycler to handle. Please try to dispose of them in some other way.

Manager Interviews Underway

With interviews with six semi-finalists for the town manager's position scheduled for this week, the selectmen Monday night reviewed the questions they would ask the candidates, and the conditions of the contract that their eventual choice will be offered.

The candidates interviewed Tuesday, Wednesday and today were to be asked to describe their work experience in labor negotiations, growth management, major construction and planning a capital budget, among other questions. The selectmen also planned to question the candidates' experience with evaluation of personnel and data processing.

The board also discussed the details of the vacation time, sick leave and allowance for "professional development" the successful candidate will be offered, and determined that the manager should be asked to give 60 days' notice before resigning.

After this week's interviews, the selectmen were expected to narrow the field down to two finalists, and make their final decision next week.

Permits, Licenses Are Granted

During a regular meeting at town hall Monday night, the board of selectmen approved permits for Bay State Gas, a sewer connection for a town housing project, and a late summer block party.

The gas company received approval to excavate to install new services at 179 Shawsheen Road, and at 9 Forbes Lane. The acting town manager recommended approval of the permits, stip-ulating that the work be done to the satisfaction of the Public Works director.

Sitting as sewer commissioners, the board approved a sewer connection for the Chestnut Court elderly and handicapped housing project.

And the board granted a request for a neighborhood block party on Beech Circle from noon to 10 p.m. Sept. 6, with a rain date of Sept. 7.

May Seek Water System Improvements

A state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering grant program may help Andover make some improvements to its water distribution system. Public Works Director Robert McQuade said Tuesday.

Through DEQE, the state has appropriated $10 million for a construction grants program to detect leaks and rehabilitate municipal water lines, to help save the millions of gallons of water that are lost through leaks every year.

With 50 percent matching funds, cities and towns may receive grants of up to $25,000 for leak detection, and up to $425,000 for pipe replacement.

McQuade said Proposition 2½ kept the town from including the grant program in the DPW budget this year, but the department is now looking into it as a possible part of next year's budget.

"I'm not so much concerned about leaks," he explained, "but about restoration. We still have some improvements to make in our distribution system, and this might be one way to go."

15 Jurists Are Drawn

Fifteen residents were drawn for jury duty by the selectmen Monday night.

They are: Polly Harper, 128 Main St.; Brian S. Guilmette, 27 Pleasant St.; Frank J. Orlando, 68 Carmel Road; Drake C. Zaharris, 5 Chaise Circle; Leslie A. Wetmore, 6 Karlton Circle; Shirley M. Waldron, 28 Canterbury St.; Martha H. Cunningham, 49 Lucerne

Drive; Josephine Germano, 6 Wabana-ki Way; Gerald Fennessey, 7 Crescent Drive; Phillip J. Butler, 5 Gardner Ave.; James M. Rathbun, 31 Argilla Road; Pauline R. Dennison, 83 High St.; Rita K. Dowd, 15 Cabot Road; James A. McKain, 165 Shawsheen Road; and Connie May Fogg, 50 Summer St.

Children's Theatre To Appear

The Pot Pourri Wagon, a touring theater group, will present a program of marionettes, comedy, juggling and clowning for children ages 6 to 12 at Memorial Hall Library on Thursday, Aug. 13, at 2 p.m.

Seating will be limited. Free tickets may be picked up by parents in the Children's Room of the library beginning Monday, Aug. 10.

The Pot Pourri Wagon, the same as the popular Magic Wagon which appeared at the library last summer, is based in the Department of Theater and Communication at the University of New Hampshire.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Children's Room.

In 70 years, the average life expectancy of man, the heart beats 2½ billion times.

Night At Fenway Is On

Now that the strike is over, the rush is on at the Department of Community Services for a chance to purchase tickets to the Aug. 11 baseball game against the Chicago White Sox. The trip includes reserved bleacher seats and round trip transportation to and from the ballpark. Buses will leave from the high school parking lot at 6 p.m. Note the departure time and location has been changed.

The experts are predicting total sellouts for the first week of games when the season resumes, so avoid the lines in Boston. Tickets are available at the new Department of Community Services location in the Shawsheen School on a first come, first served basis.

Sightseeing rides will be offered during open house at the Beverly Airport, Aug. 8, 10 to 4.

Local Dance Group Auditions

The Merrimack Valley Dance Collaborative, Inc., a non-profit, tax-exempt educational corporation, will be holding the second of its 1981 auditions on Tuesday, Aug. 18, at the Dance Collaborative Headquarters, 477 Essex St., Lawrence, at 7:30 p.m.

Those wishing to audition are asked to attend and bring a picture and resume with them and be prepared to dance.

The Dance Collaborative, Inc. is particularly in need of males, with or without dance training, but interested in performing.

For the 1981-82 season, the Dance Collaborative plans to present an adapted version of "A Chorus Line" sometime in October: a full-length "Nutcracker" early in December; an original production, "The Broadway Babies on the Move," in March and Chopin's "Les Sylphides" next April.

There are two division of the Dance Collaborative: senior, for those with at least three years of intensive dance training and at least 14 years of age; and junior, for those with at least three years of intensive dance training and at least 10 years of age. Each division has an apprentice level which performs with the Collaborative, but needs to improve dance technique in at least one or two dance subjects.

Dance Collaborative officers are: Harold Gillman of Andover, president; Carole Mason of Methuen, vice-president; Harold Mc Phee of North Andover, treasurer; Joyce Gardiner of Chelmsford, public relations; Lois Landry of Pelham, N.H., special advisor; Maryjane Cunningham of Chelmsford, dance therapist.

On July 4, 1776, King George III of England noted in his diary: "Nothing of importance happened today."

Sailing Tanker

The 25,000 cargo ships throughout the world burn four million barrels of oil daily and are becoming unprofitable. By contrast, the world's first sailing tanker, the 216-foot Shin Aitoku Maru, which plies the coasts of Asia, saves approximately $500,000 worth of fuel yearly. Mass. Audubon reports.

User Fees Would Begin In September

9 THE TOWNSMAN, AUGUST 6, 1981

Andover pupils may well be paying for the privilege of taking instrumental music lessons and playing interscholastic sports, come fall.

The school committee Tuesday night is expected to make a second and final pass on a new user fee policy that would have students picking up some of the tab for those activities.

The policy was given first pass at the committee's meeting in July, though the topic was discussed at length during budget deliberations in the spring. The committee said the policy is a "direct result" of the financial constraints imposed on the schools by Proposition 2½.

Students participating in instrumental music would be charged $35 per year, with a $50 maximum per family.

In athletics, youngsters would be charged $20 per sport, with a maximum of $35 per student per year, and a maximum of $50 per family. Many students, the committee noted, participate on two or more teams.

Asst. Supt. Charles Mitsakos said at the last session that once the final rosters are determined, the athletes would be given "sufficient time" to come up with the money.

Also scheduled for a second pass Tuesday night is a revised testing policy, which would have every pupil in grades 1 through 11 tested every other year instead of every year. Individual results would be communicated to parents as in the past, with school-by-school results passed on to the school committee.

Since the entire system was tested in 1981, Mitsakos said, the testing will henceforth be done in odd years. Pupils in grades 3, 6 and 8 would continue to be tested every year, per the basic skills policy required by the state.

While the test policy revision is also an economy move, the administration has long recommended that annual testing was unnecessary. In addition to financial cost, it requires a great deal of staff time in administering and scoring the tests.

The committee will be meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School.

Some Tenants May Get Fuel Reimbursements

Elderly and low-income tenants in Andover whose fuel costs were included in their rent for the 1979-80 heating season may be entitled to a reimbursement for benefits not received under the fuel assistance program.

Joining a statewide effort, the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council, Inc. (GLCAC, Inc.) is now trying to locate these tenants for a direct payment in compliance with a Massachusetts court order, according to Philip F. Laverriere, Sr., executive director of the GLCAC, Inc.

Because of delays at the federal level, the rental assistance program designed for tenants whose heating costs were included in their rent, did not begin until March of 1980. Because of this late start, many elderly or low-income tenants were either unaware of the program or did not receive full benefits, Laverriere said.

Tenants whose heat was included in their rent for the winter of 1979-80 and whose household income was below 125 percent of the federal poverty guidelines are eligible for reimbursement, provided their rent was not state or federally subsidized. These area residents should contact the GLCAC, Inc. at 350 Essex St., Lawrence, Laverriere said.

The income for a person living alone must not have exceeded $4,738, while a family of four the income must have fallen below $9,313. All homes where the head of the household receives Supplemental Security Insurance (SSI) or "the gold check" are automatically eligible.

The GLCAC, Inc. will process applications for reimbursement in amounts based on a percentage of the total rent paid from October 1979 to June 1980, Laverriere said.

The Greater Lawrence Community Action Council, Inc. is the anti-poverty agency for the Greater Lawrence Community and serves as the sponsor for programs dealing with manpower, education, minorities, elderly, health, welfare, consumer affairs, and many other social services.

Sound Of Music

Town & Country Playhouse, Salem, N.H., is presenting the Rodger's and Hammerstein musical, "Sound of Music," through Aug. 9. The story is about Maria Von Trapp's brief stay in the convent and her marriage to Capt. Georg Von Trapp, after she became the governess of his children. Favorite songs are "Climb Every Mountain," "The Sound of Music," "My Favorite Things," and "Edelweiss." This is a show the whole family can enjoy together.

The production is directed by Mark Hoffett and the musical director is John Messio. The show stars Terri Benincasa as Maria and Oliver Warren as the captain.

Bridge First

Sheila Livermore, 34 Wildwood Drive, Andover, and Jean Thacher of Orleans, won first in their section in the Womens Pairs Flight B, a one-day championship in which 920 players competed.

The event was among four North American Championship, 12 lesser title races, and 50 other events which drew 6,000 players to 10 days of competition in Boston. Bridge players of every class of skill compete during the meet, one of the three major tournaments each year sponsored by the ACBL.

Criteria

parents who don't want their youngsters to walk - at a cost of $90 to $125 per child (see story on back page).

2. The police department is working on a set of guidelines for walkers.

3. The school department is considering a police department suggestion to beef up school patrols, with fifth and sixth graders taking the lead.

Parents about town are also setting up car pools or parent committees to make certain youngsters get safely past neighborhood "hazards."

The whole notion of Prop. 2½, Seifert said, is that we all have to tighten up our belts, and he called for a cooperation between parents, the schools and the police.

Safety Criteria

The committee to review parental requests is made up of three members of the police department and two members of the school department, and the criteria they will use zeroes in on traffic, width of road, visibility, "extreme" unusual hazards and age of the walkers.

Under the "traffic" heading fall the volume of traffic and the speed limit.

It really depends on the amount of traffic at the time youngsters are walking to and from school, Seifert said. "A road may carry 50,000 cars a day," he said, "but between 3 and 4 p.m., there may be only 25 cars."

Width of road, he said, also takes into consideration the existence or non-existence of sidewalks, brush or overgrowth at the edge of the road, amount of room for snow to be piled in the winter, the type of vehicles using the road, whether it is posted or marked and the road's surface (are there potholes, for instance?).

Visibility, Seifert said, means the distance a child could be seen by drivers, and vice versa. Of concern here are curves, hills, trees, elevations, slopes.

Extreme unusual hazards, he went on, take into account seasonal variables.

"We may have to make exceptions in one season of the year but not in others,"

Changes For Traditional And St. Augustine's

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert noted this week that the bus policy changes also affect youngsters at St. Augustine's and Traditional School youngsters who have previously been picked up in their neighborhoods. If they live less than a mile and a half from their "neighborhood" schools, he said, they will walk to those schools with their peers, and then be shuttled to their special programs from there.

Summer Courses Provide Valuable Experience

Summer Study

Robin Rothberg, a ninth grader at the West Junior High School in Andover, communicates with a LA 36 Computer terminal at Merrimack College.

While most of their classmates are lying lazily under the summer sun, 29 area middle and high school students are taking on the computers at Merrimack College.

The 29 students comprise the first group of secondary students ever to participate at Merrimack in one of two non-credit summer computer courses offered specifically for students in grades 7-12.

Students, who were selected from applications received, come from the Methuen, North Andover, Andover, Lawrence, Georgetown, and Salem, N.H., school systems.

Twenty-three students are enrolled in Introduction to Programming in Basic-Plus, a course for students with little or no experience with computers. Six students are taking Applications of Computer Programming in the Basic-Plus Language, a course for students who have had prior experience with programming.

"Most of our computer terminals were available in the daytime during the summer months," explains Justine Juarez, dean of Continuing Education. "We thought this time of year would be an ideal time to provide area and middle high school students with some valuable hands-on experience with computers."

According to Dean Juarez, area school systems were enthused about the program. "In light of Proposition 2½ cuts, students will probably have less of an opportunity to actually work with computers. We're delighted to be able to meet the needs of students in grades 7-12 with a strong interest in computer science," the Continuing Education dean remarked.

High school teachers, James Murphy (Andover), Arthur Forgetta (North Andover), and Pauline Duhamel (Lawrence), worked in coordination with the Merrimack staff in the development of the program.

Instructors for the courses are Prof. William Russell, a professor of education at Merrimack College, and Prof. Judith Twombly, a member of Merrimack's Continuing Education staff and a teacher at Ipswich High.

As for the success of the courses and plans for future summer courses for middle and secondary school students, Dean Juarez is optimistic. "We hope to expand

Criteria

he said. A piece of road, because of its slope or shade, might be consistently icy in the winter, or the angle of the sun at a particular month of the year might impair drivers' vision.

Age of walkers, Seifert said, could come into play in a "marginal" area. If kindergartners to 3rd graders are the only ones walking, he said, it's a far different situation than if there are 5th and 6th graders walking that same road.

The safety committee will make a written report of each investigation to the superintendent and the chief of police, and they in turn will mail a response to the parents.

If the recommendation of all of them - the committee, the superintendent and the chief - is that the town should take some action, the superintendent would then present the case to the school committee for a possible exception.

For those rare exceptions, Seifert went on, there are limited funds available.

He said he felt this was all a "very real and rational approach," and added that Andover does not have a school committee "whose primary objective is to save a buck."

"They will look at a situation objectively and render a reasonable decision," he said. "I feel confident that their decision would not be based on how much money they would spend or save."

Transportation Assistant Casey said she feels parents are also not giving their kids enough credit for being able to negotiate the walk to school.

"Kids are very resourceful," she said. "It's probably going to take a while," she went on, "but once parents start accepting the longer walks, it will be a worthwhile situation."

The school committee will make an official first pass on its revised school bus policy - including the new one-and-a-half mile limits for elementary and two-mile limits for secondary pupils - when it meets Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School.

School Committee Chairman Joseph Finn said at last month's meeting, however, that the policy had basically been set during budget deliberations in the spring, and that they were basically bringing the policy manual up to date.

Wet Roads

Wet weather driving presents its own separate set of problems for motorists. One word of advice from the ALA Auto and Travel Club regards passing on wet roads: it is not safe to try to overtake another car or truck if there are large puddles ahead or if the other vehicle is creating a sidespray.

Diet facts & fallacies

These nutritional tips brought to you by DIET CENTER

What is the difference between fructose (sugar which occurs naturally in fruits) and sucrose (refined table sugar)? Isn't sugar still sugar from any form? Both of these sugars are sweet. The real difference is in the way the body utilizes fructose as compared to sucrose. Sucrose has a much greater effect on the insulin level. When eaten, it speeds directly into the system, causing a rapid elevation of the blood sugar level. It is burned up quickly, and the blood sugar level drops drastically to a point lower than before the sugar was eaten. Energy levels rise and fall in direct relationship, and craving for more sweets occurs. Fructose, on the other hand, is a natural-combination with the fruit being eaten. As digestion takes place, this natural sugar is released into the system, slowly and constantly over a longer period of time. Blood sugar levels remain constant and this, coupled with the bulk provided, results in a feeling of being full for a longer period of time, and a high-energy level is maintained.

Blight To Oversee School Construction

John Blight of Methuen, a former state building inspector with the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety, has been retained as clerk of the works for the three-part, $13.72 million school building project, the selectmen learned Monday night.

Acting Town Manager Tony Torrisi reported that the school building committee last week confirmed Blight's hiring, on a contractual basis. The clerk will work under the supervision of Project Manager William Mansell.

Blight reported for duty this week; he will spend most of his time overseeing the contractors' work at the Andover High and West Junior High school sites. Mansell oversees the Doherty/East Junior High sites.

Blight has more than 20 years' experience with the construction of public buildings, Torrisi said. Selectman Jerry Silverman, who said he had worked with Blight on school projects when Blight was with the state, gave the new clerk an enthusiastic vote of confidence: "This guy is terrific," he said.

Another clerk of the works may be hired acting manager said, to oversee construction of "mechanical areas."

State Capitol

The golden-domed State House in Concord, N.H., is open to the public Monday through Friday, 8 to 4:30, with guided tours at 10 and 2. See elegant chambers filled with treasures and the new Visitors Center, which contains an important document exhibits and revolutionary dioramas.

Cherry Sheets

Although that money is included on the cherry sheets, "it has nothing to do with 2 1/2," Torrisi says. "We would have received that regardless of the state aid package. We were expecting that increase."

Even so, Andover still can count itself lucky, he adds, because the new state aid will cover about half the town's losses from the tax-cutting measure. That is what most municipal officials had hoped for, Torrisi says — that the state would share 50 percent of the losses caused by 2 1/2.

The state aid formula finally arrived at, however, did not achieve that goal for all the cities and towns in the state, and many have charged that the amount of aid they will receive is inadequate and unfair.

But Andover has no complaints with the cherry sheets, Torrisi says: "We would be hard pressed to say we are not pleased."

Pole Hill Subdivision Gets Okay, But 'Swap Talks' May Begin Soon

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Planning Board Tuesday night cleared the way for 69 homes to be built on Pole Hill in Ballardvale, by approving final plans for developer Arthur Kalogianis' new subdivision.

But it remains to be seen whether Kalogianis will actually build those homes, or use the planners' approval merely as a bargaining chip in negotiations to swap Pole Hill for a smaller parcel of town-owned land.

Dina Hammond of the Conservation Commission said Wednesday she expects talks with the developer, owner of T.D.J. Development Corp., to begin soon. The commission proposed, and annual town meeting approved, a plan to swap Pole Hill for town land called the "tea lots" off Woburn Street.

The conservation commission has long planned to acquire the hill to protect it from development; overlooking the Shawsheen River, it is one of the highest and most scenic spots in Andover.

Town meeting authorized the commission to negotiate the swap, and offer Kalogianis additional funds as necessary to compensate for the greater value of his 45-acre Pole Hill parcel, located off Center and Marland streets. The 26-acre tea lots could support approximately 30 homes.

After two delays on the deadline for approving the plans — the first deadline was June 24 and the second, July 22 — the planners this week resolved three questions remaining on the subdivision plan, leading to their unanimous approval.

Their first question concerned adding a second access road to the "Waterford Place" development. It is designed with one long roadway, "Pole Hill Drive," leading from Tewksbury Street, with four cul-de-sacs clustered around the roadway.

Public safety officials strongly recommended that a second road would be needed for emergency access to the subdivision. But Planning Board Chairman David Gravalles explained Tuesday that the planners have no authority to require a second road, according to Special Town Counsel Thomas Arnold.

The developer had proposed a 14-foot wide gravel roadway, but since it would not be plowed in the winter and would be barricaded at times to prevent traffic crossing through the development, safety officials rejected a gravel road as "useless."

The planners and developer therefore settled on a four to eight-foot wide footpath this week as a compromise. The path, landscaped with railroad ties or landscape timbers and crushed stone, would let pedestrians cross through the development, but not cars or motorcycles. The path will follow a 10-foot wide water easement from one cul-de-sac, "Pembroke Drive," to Center Street.

The planners also settled the question of why Public Works Director Robert McQuade wanted the developer to add a new eight-inch wide water main to serve the subdivision, when the town's master water plan calls for a six-inch main. The development plans were designed with six-inch pipes.

Selectmen Settle On 10-Year School Bonds

The selectmen Monday night voted to sell bonds not exceeding a 10-year issue to finance the $13.72 million school building program, making a decision they have been contemplating for several months.

A 10-year bonding would give the town a lower interest rate and smaller interest payments over the years than 15 or 20-year bonds, the board decided after hearing the advice of John Begley of New England Merchants Bank. Those were the alternatives the board had been considering.

Selectmen Donn Byrne, Jerry Silverman and Chairman Norma Gammon voted in favor of a 10-year bond issue. They noted that with a shorter issue, the tax burden of the interest payments would be more likely to fall on the townspeople who voted for the building program at 1980's annual town meeting.

"The people who voted for it damn well better pay for it," Byrne commented.

But Selectman Edward Harris voted against a 10-year issue, questioning the "philosophical aspect" of requiring current residents to pay for schools that are expected to be used for 50 years.

"There are some people in town who feel it ought to be spread out, and not have the burden fall on those who are here now," Harris explained.

"That," Begley replied, "is a never-ending philosophical question." However, he added, shorter-term bonds would be easier to sell, while the town would probably meet with "instant resistance" to 15 or 20-year bonds on the market.

Selectman Susan Poore abstained from the vote.

Begley distributed charts comparing the interest payments for 10, 15 and 20-year issues. He estimated that if the board tried to sell bonds "today", they would get a 9.75 percent interest rate for a 10-year issue, 10.25 percent for a 15-year issue, and 10.60 percent for a 20-year issue.

According to Begley's figures, at those rates interest payments on the shortest issue would total $6.9 million in 1990; on a 15-year issue, $10.6 million in 1995; and on a 20-year issue, $14 million in 2000.

Selectman Byrne moved to sell a 10-year or shorter issue, pointing out that the difference in interest payments between the shortest and longest issues was $7 million. "I'm not going to pay $7 million just on interest," he said. "That's half the cost of the entire project."

Although the selectmen have expressed some desire to sell the bonds as soon as possible, Begley recommended that they hold off for six months to a year to gain the most favorable interest rate. Town meeting bound the selectmen to a 9½ percent rate.

"It is entirely possible that a year from now, interest rates may be more attractive," Begley said, "about 8½ to 9 percent." He advised the board to "keep your options open" by selling no sooner than November. "Wait and see what happens. It's a matter of trying to outguess the market."

In the meantime, the board will continue

Three New Patrolmen Are 'Locals'

Three "local boys" have been appointed to the Andover Police Department, Chief James Johnson said Monday night when he introduced the new officers to the selectmen at town hall.

The officers are William Canane of Foster Circle, Robert Cronin of Argilla Road, and Brian Patullo, of Stevens Street.

Canane recently joined the department as dog officer and supervisor of the alternative sentencing program, while Patullo joins his father, Lt. Hector Patullo, and brother, Officer Donald Patullo, in the department.

Chief Johnson said he was "very proud to see three local boys" join the department. The three will graduate from the state police academy and begin active duty in Andover Oct. 13.

The board also appointed three conservation overseers Monday night, to oversee town-owned lands. The three are Robert A. Pfister, Beatrice A. Pfister and Darlene A. Antonucci.

JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

GOPer who caused ERA flap comments on friend O'Connor

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR
WASHINGTON

Remember Mary Crisp? She is the outspoken Arizona woman who rocked Ronald Reagan's boat at the Republican Convention last year. She clashed with Reagan over the Equal Rights Amendment, and her insubordination cost her the co-chairmanship of the Republican National Committee.

Now another Arizona woman is in the limelight. She is Sandra O'Connor, who has been appointed by President Reagan to the Supreme Court.

Mary Crisp and Sandra O'Connor have been friends for years. They both worked for the Republican cause in the Phoenix area and their children attended the same schools.

The two women have had long talks about political issues. And Mary Crisp thinks Reagan may be in for a surprise. She describes O'Connor as a moderate with a fierce independent streak. Crisp also called her friend "a real civil libertarian." As a judge, she demonstrated a devotion to detail.

Sandra O'Connor has another surprising friend -- Chief Justice Warren Burger. The two became acquainted at judicial outings. They got to know each other on a trip to England and a cruise on Lake Powell on the Utah-Arizona border.

Burger has told associates that O'Connor has a fine judicial mind. But the chief justice is fretting over one problem: O'Connor will be the first woman in history to sit on the Supreme Court, and there's no ladies' room in the justices' chambers.

WALLOPING WATT: Interior Secretary James Watt has aroused the wrath of many important environmental groups. According to reports, Watt is "amused" by their opposition to his policies.

It's likely that Watt will not be quite so amused by the indignation he has stirred in another quarter. The Interior secretary's high-handed methods have earned him some influential enemies on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., for example, recently called on President Reagan to "oust" Watt. Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., for another example, has circulated a "Dear Colleague" letter calling for Watt's dismissal. The letter was circulated among both Republicans and Democrats in the House and Senate. It was signed by 27 of the lawmakers and drew negative responses from only five. The letter has now been dispatched to the White House.

Meanwhile, Watt hasn't done himself any good on Capitol Hill with one of his latest maneuvers. He tried to pull a quarterback sneak on Rep. Sidney Yates, D-Ill.

Yates is an influential member of the Appropriations Committee. Indeed, he is chairman of the subcommittee that handles the Interior Department's budget requests. In short, he is one congressman who no Interior secretary should antagonize.

But that is exactly what Watt has done. He decided to move the regional office of the surface mining bureau from Denver to Casper, Wyo. Yates was convinced that the move should not be made. So he attached a rider to next year's appropriations bill which forbids Interior from moving the office.

That should have sent Watt a signal. But he rushed in where angels fear to tread. The next fiscal year doesn't begin until October, so Watt took funds from this year's budget and began moving the surface mining office in June.

Yates, say our sources, is furious. He has vowed that if Watt ever shows up before him again looking for money, "he won't get a dime."

SPARKLING CONTROVERSY: Since World War II, the federal government has been producing synthetic rubies and sapphires which are crucial for certain types of military equipment. The jewel bearings are produced at a plant in North Dakota.

the only facility of its kind in the United States.

President Reagan recently issued an order calling for a national stockpile of 120 million of these gems. But unfortunately, the plant where the bearings are made is fraught with problems.

According to a confidential federal audit, the plant relies heavily on foreign sources for raw materials. In addition, the experts say, dramatic changes in military technology have virtually rendered the bearings obsolete.

Footnote: Just two days before the stinging audit report was completed, the jewel-bearing plant received a federal efficiency award.

HEADLINES & FOOTNOTES: Every year, federal bureaucrats conduct more than a dozen major "wage surveys" to check how Uncle Sam's paychecks compare with private industry. This year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics alone spent more than $2.5 million for just one survey ... A top-secret CIA report says there is a ring of more than three dozen spies from the Republic of China in the United States who keep tabs on Americans of Chinese descent. The average spy is paid $1,100 a month and is provided with a car to carry out his undercover job.

The combined picnic of the West and Christ Church Sunday schools, Shawsheen Community and St. Paul's of North Andover was held Saturday at Pleasant Pond, Waltham. The routine daily check by Board of Public Works reservoir attendants on Monday morning revealed that the level of the high pressure reservoir on Prospect Hill had dropped some 300,000 gallons during the previous 24 hours, according to information provided members of the Board of Public Works at Monday evening's meeting. Examination of the equipment showed that a check float valve which activates the flow of water had become stuck. This was repaired and everything was back to normal.

More Concern About Safety

To The Editor Of The Townsman:

We believe that the extension of the busing limits is very dangerous to our children. We fall within the mile and a half elementary school limit and two mile secondary school limit, and we believe the concern over our children's safety is valid.

We agree wholeheartedly with a letter to the editor written by Marilyn McPar-land on July 30 about this issue. We would like to focus some attention on a more specific area: Greenwood Road, Juniper Road and High Plain Road.

High Plain Road is an extremely dangerous road for any type of traffic. There are no sidewalks, the road is extremely narrow, hilly, winding with poor visibility, blind driveways and lack of shoulders. Greenwood Road is treated as a highway by many motorists.

The following factors should be considered when looking into the safety of these roads.

- Width of streets: all narrow.
- Curves in streets: many.
- Kinds of traffic: heavy trucks, farming equipment and motor vehicles.
- Amount of traffic: extremely heavy.
- Number of accidents: on record.
- Number of students: affects elementary through high school.
- Number of speeding citations: unknown.
- Ages of students: all ages 5-18.
- Are sidewalks and shoulders available: there is nowhere that the children can walk and not be on the paved roads!
- Opinion of school administration: unknown.
- availability of crossing guards: unknown.
- Visibility: large trees and bushes obscure vision.
- Distance: 1.9 miles to secondary schools.

-Opinion of police: The most important fact is that High Plain Road was deemed unsafe six years ago by the Safety Commissioner because of its narrow width and lack of sidewalks.

Nothing has been done in six years to correct this still extremely dangerous situation. The population of the area has increased greatly with a corresponding increase in traffic.

We should be concerned with our children's daily safety, not only educating their minds. A school system is worthless if children cannot safely participate in it.

We have submitted petitions to Dr. Kenneth Seifert, signed by all concerned parents and residents on the stated streets. One non-parent stated that she did not want to be the one who would skid into our children during the treacherous winter months.

We hope that we do not need a fatality to prove the seriousness of our concern.

32 Electrical Exhibition Featured

THE TOWNSMAN, AUGUST 6, 1981

Boston's Museum of Science features electro-magnetism in a new exhibition about the two scientists responsible for much of the pioneering work in the field.

"Lines and Waves: Faraday, Maxwell and 150 years of Electromagnetism" commemorates Michael Faraday's 1831 discovery of electromagnetic induction, and the birth, that same year, of the physicist James Clerk Maxwell. The exhibition opens August 8. Faraday and Maxwell were the first to demonstrate many of the unifying principles of electricity, magnetism, and light. Faraday saw lines of force underlying these phenomena, while the more mathematically-inclined Maxwell later evolved the famous wave theory to account for their interconnection.

Reproductions of original photographs, documents, and experimental apparatus provide a vivid view of the lives and work of the two scientists and some of their colleagues. Included are the recent color photographs of Saturn that illustrate Maxwell's mathematical proof—more than 100 years before Voyager—that the rings are made of particles. Visitors can try for themselves the demonstration model of Faraday's induction ring, and observe the model of Oersted's wire and compass experiment. Some of the models are on loan from the Smithsonian Institution.

On display through Sept. 20, the exhibition was developed by the Center for the History of Electrical Engineering, a part of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and is being circulated by the Association of Science-Technology Centers

... fires 3-hitter at Norwood

By Rick Harrison

The combined forces of the Andover Gold and Andover Blue Babe Ruth baseball teams (ages 14-15) battled to the semifinal round of the 14th annual Lexington Invitational Youth Tournament, capturing a pair of impressive victories last weekend over teams from Waltham and Norwood.

Andover trimmed Waltham 5-1 in the opening round of the 16-team, single-elimination tourney, as righthanders Mark Grams and Scott Zimmerman combined for a crisp one-hitter.

The locals also received some spectacular defense in that contest, with centerfielder Rob Wilson making an incredible diving catch and third baseman John Geiger producing several dazzling plays.

Andover followed with a solid 6-1 triumph over a strong Norwood team in the quarterfinals, as righty Mark Lefebvre fashioned a complete-game three-hitter and the locals strung together six straight singles in the second to break the game open.

The twin victories moved Andover Gold-Blue to the semifinals, where they were scheduled to face Arlington some time this week.

Another Andover win will put them in the championship final this Saturday at Worthen Field in Lexington (2 p.m.)

Andover, 5-1

Mark Grams (4-0 overall) pitched the first five innings for Andover, allowing only a third inning triple by John Favreau

Scott Zimmerman finished up with two frames of hitless relief, although he did allow an unearned run to Waltham in the bottom of the seventh.

The pair combined to strike out four and walk four.

Andover took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, and only some bad luck prevented the winners from scoring several more times.

Grams opened the game with a walk. Kraig Burzlaff beat out a bunt single, and Scott Zimmerman was safe on a one-out error to load the bases.

Dave Laporte then looped an opposite-field liner to left, but all three runners had to hold when it appeared Waltham left-fielder Jeff Remard might catch the ball.

The ball did fall just inside the line, with Grams racing home, but Burzlaff was forced at third base.

Rob "Mr. August" Wilson followed with a sharp single to rightfield, but Zimmerman was cut down at the plate on an accurate throw from John Demoy to catcher Steve Guisti.

Andover made it 2-0 in the fourth when Laporte singled, took second on Wilson's single, third on Billy Lane's sacrifice bunt, and scored on a sacrifice fly to centerfield by John Geiger.

Andover collected three important insurance runs in the top of the seventh, spanking four singles along the way.

Grams started the uprising with a one-out walk, stole second, took third on Kraig Burzlaff's single, and came home on the front end of a delayed steal that also produced an error on the catcher's throw.

Burzlaff then crossed on Scott Zimmerman's single, and Zimmerman stole second and scored on Dave Laporte's basehit. Rob Wilson followed with his third single of the game, but Laporte was cut down at home trying to score.

The shutout was lost in the bottom of the seventh, when Waltham managed a run without a hit. Guisti was safe on an infield error. Don DeLeo was hit by a pitch. John Favreau walked, and Guisti scored when Glen VanDerLinden bounced into a fielder's choice.

Waltham's only other threat was in the third. DeLeo drew a leadoff walk, but was promptly picked off first base by Grams. One out later Favreau clouted his triple to leftfield.

The Andover defense was superb.

Wilson's phenomenal catch robbed pinch-hitter Mike Strout of a leadoff homer in the sixth. Mr. August raced into right-centerfield, and at the last instant, dove straight out and caught the ball in the webbing of his glove before skidding to the turf.

Geiger made back-to-back stabs of hot shots headed towards leftfield, robbing DeLeo to end the fourth and taking a hit away from Tim Rinck to open the fifth.

Rob Wilson sparked the nine-hit Andover offense with 3-for-4, while 2-for-4 efforts were contributed by Burzlaff, Zimmerman and Laporte.

Andover, 6-1

Mark Lefebvre did an outstanding job of keeping the Norwood batters off balance, mixing a good fastball, curve, knuckleball and occasional changeup as Andover advanced to the semifinals with the 6-1 win.

Lefebvre allowed just three hits, struck out two and didn't walk a batter. He also retired the last 10 batters he faced.

As in the first game, the lone run against Andover was unearned.

Andover won the game, for all intents and purposes, in the top of the second with six straight singles that produced four runs.

Dave Laporte started the uprising with a single, and successive hits by Rob Wilson

Shutout Gives Gold A Championship

Andover's Gold

By Rick Harrison

It wasn't easy, but another superb pitching performance by ace lefthander Billy Vickers enabled Andover Gold to clinch the regular season championship of the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League (13-15 years) last week.

Vickers, in boosting his personal record to 6-2, fired a masterful two-hit shutout and extricated himself from a monumental seventh inning jam to secure the title for Andover Gold.

The victory was the 11th in a row for Gold, which completed the regular season at 16-2 in the league and 20-2 overall.

North Andover, beaten twice in three games by Gold, was a close runnerup at 14-3 while Andover Blue took third place at 11-6.

Vickers' shutout effort was the second straight for Gold which, since returning from Montreal, Canada, has allowed only eight runs in nine games.

The sharp southpaw struck out eight, walked three and threw only 98 pitches.

South Lawrence West righthander Vin DelSignore fashioned his third consecutive strong performance against Gold, but again he fell short despite a five-hitter, four walks and eight strikeouts.

Vickers cruised into the bottom of the seventh with a one-hitter, the lone safety a two-out, bad-hop single by Bill Baillargeon in the first as the ball struck a rock just as Vickers went to field it.

However, Kevin Sullivan launched the seventh with a sharp groundball single to right-centerfield. Silvio Laudani then reached on an error, and Steve Dastous drew a walk to load the bases with no one out.

Vickers shook off the dilemma and finished with a flourish, striking out Dan Buote, Bob Farrington and DelSignore in succession to preserve the shutout and the championship.

Andover Gold notched its first run in the opening stanza. Mark Grams singled sharply to centerfield, took second on Kraig Burzlaff's sacrifice bunt, and raced to third when Scott Zimmerman reached on a two-out infield error.

The pair then executed a delayed double steal with Grams scoring the only run necessary.

Gold's insurance run came in the top of the third when Grams once again led with a single, stole second and raced across on Vickers' RBI single.

The champs had at least one runner aboard in all but the sixth. Rob Wilson walked in the second, Mark Lefebvre singled in the fourth. Vickers ripped a double down the rightfield line in the fifth, and walks to Brian Finnerty and Burzlaff produced a seventh inning threat.

On each occasion DeSignore bore down to escape trouble.

SLW advanced only one runner as far as second base prior to the dramatic seventh, as Bob Farrington walked and moved to second on an error in the third.

Vickers once again helped himself with some excellent defensive play on the mound, making three putouts and two assists.

Gold will try to make a sweep of the regular season and playoff titles now, as it opened playoff competition earlier this week against Prospect Hill.

Gold was also scheduled to face the loser of the North Andover-South Lawrence West game last night, as the double-elimination playoffs continued.

League Stats

Scott Zimmerman emerged as the top hitter for Gold during its 18-game league schedule, finishing with a solid .439 average.

Other top G-L regular-season averages among the Gold players belonged to Billy Vickers at .404, Mark Grams at .397, Steve Dougal at .364, and Billy Lane at .292.

Three 13-year old "rookies" also batted well while seeing limited service. Shane Smith hit .375 while Scott Wilkins and

Camp Concludes Season

When the Andover Soccer Camp at Phillips Academy finished its final week of the summer on Friday evening, July 31, it reached an important landmark: its fifth consecutive successful year of operation.

This summer the camp continued to solidify its position within the more than 20 surrounding communities sending representatives by enrolling 460 boys and girls, a record high. This year's special feature is an all-girls' program, combined with a Senior Camp, during the fourth week.

Along with the fine facilities at Phillips Academy, the fine coaching staff consisting of local high school coaches and area college players has been the strength of the camp. Directors Dave Amundsen of Andover High School and Bill Tarbox of Lawrence Vocational paid homage to five charter and senior coaches at the staff party recently at the Log Cabin by presenting plaques to Bill Altieri of Billerica, Rod Pickard of Marblehead, Dave Wilson of Bedford, Jim Wood and Phil Youngclaus, both of Andover.

Joe Wennik, camp coordinator and athletic director of Phillips Academy, considers this camp to be the finest of its type in this area and feels that the academy is privileged to be able to serve so many young boys and girls. Now that soccer as a viable sport has been launched, Wennik anticipates that the camp will continue to be an important experience for area soccer players and coaches for many years to come.

and Billy Lane loaded the bases. Singles by Bob Rikeman and Lefebvre made it 2-0, and Brian Finnerty completed the rally by dumping a two-run single to right-centerfield.

Norwood collected its lone run in the bottom of the fourth, as John French reached on an infield error, escaped a pickoff attempt, and scored on a two-out single by Ron Weber.

Weber advanced to second on the throw home, but was subsequently nailed at the plate as he tried to score on Bill Hancock's single. Rob Wilson fielded the ball and fired a strike to cutoff man Dave Laporte, who wheeled and relayed it to catcher Bob Rikeman blocking the plate.

Lefebvre was never in trouble thereafter, retiring the side 1-2-3 the last three innings without allowing a ball out of the infield.

Andover collected two insurance runs in the fifth. Laporte walked, Wilson bunted him to second, John Geiger walked, and Rikeman spiked an RBI single that traveled about 300 feet over the rightfielder's head.

Lefebvre beat out an infield hit to load the bases, and Scott Zimmerman laid down a perfect suicide squeeze bunt to rescue Geiger.

Rikeman finished the game 3-for-4 and Lefebvre smacked wo hits.

Jeff Baldwin dumped a two-out double to left-centerfield in the first inning for the other Norwood hit, but he was left stranded.

The overall Andover defense was sharp, with John Geiger and Billy Lane splitting the shortstop duties and combining for one put out and seven assists.

playing a variety of games with such favorites as seven-up and sharks and whales. Thursday brought with it another cloudy day, but thanks to the Sparc playground, Thursday was a fun day for all. Sparc invited us to see the movie Winnie the Pooh and we all had a super morning. Friday brought the usual end of the week cookout and softball game. The day ended with a playground cleanup and summer surprise number five. West looks forward to another super week for week number six.

South

South was off to a big basketball week featuring a girls vs. boys game. The girls ended up losing by a small margin of one point. A great effort was put out by Kelsey Herny, Kim Philbin, Eliza Edelsberg, Betsy Frankenger and Trina Picardi. The hoop stars for the boys were Andy and Brian Novelline, Andy Frankenger, Mark Edelsberg, Betsy Frankenger and Trina Picardi. The hoop stars for the boys were Andy and Brian Novelline, Andy Frankenger, Mark Edelsberg, Scott and Mike Henry. South then practiced for the Good Sports Competition and got into some shipwreck. The only two survivors were Eliza Edelsberg and Mike Henry. We were all disappointed that good Sports was canceled due to the rain, but we were prepared with pipecleaner necklaces. Denny Godwin and Laurie Picardi along with Amanda Smith came up with some beautiful ones.

Friday we're looking forward to a talent show, featuring many acts such as puppet shows, dancers, gymnastic acts and sits. Next week we're looking forward to a bike hike to the bird sanctuary and a huge birthday party on Thursday, followed by a crazy Halloween Day on Friday. So if you're in the South School area on Friday, come incognito, if not you'll be spooked out of your shorts.

Sanborn Pre-School

This week ends the first week of the second session. This week was full of action-packed activity. Thursday we enjoyed cookie making. Everyone loved making clown T-Shirts. Next week we are looking forward to good sports competition and a trip to the library.

Sanborn

Sanborn was a fabulous, fun, and festive playground this week. Highlighting the week was the Roval Pancake Breakfast, with Lady Mary and King Larry preparing the meal. The kids came with great appetites and ate everything in sight. John Pike, Beth, Brenna, Brad and Brian Cronin, Walt Anderson, Rich Atkinson, Johnathon Lewis, Scott Eggert, Stephanie and Jeff Kuo have all been playing kickball, bomb ball, hit and run, box ball, soccer, floor hockey, and square ball.

Making crafts was big this week. Brenna and Beth Cronin made beaded necklaces while Scott, Leanne, Christine and Diane DeRossa made popsicle stick houses. First prize for the day sculpture belonged to Noel Sloboba while Heidi Tobias was second and Shilpa Merathe was third.

Shawsheen

Shawsheen School spent a rather quiet week. The turnout was small, but everyone had fun. Tuesday the hardy crew went on another marathon bike hike. The regulars Aimee, Kelly, Ann Marie, Paul, Pete, Vicki among others are becoming very good at getting up Heartbreak Hills number one and two.

Our playground this time visited all playgrounds, West, Sanborn, Ballardvale, South and Bancroft. We are looking forward to the Good Sports competition. We have been getting really excited about it. We are hoping to have a great time next week, all we have to do is stay away from paint. It seems that more paint ends up on the children instead of the paper.

Bancroft Pre-School

Despite the rainy weather, everything was sunny at Bancroft Pre-School last week. Pajamas were in order Tuesday and we even had a few security blankets. We made pancakes and had a delightful breakfast together. You'd be surprised how many pancakes we can eat! We even read bedtime stories in the middle of the morning.

Wednesday we made royal crowns in honor of Prince Charles and Princess Diana. We also made special note holders for our moms and dads. Sock puppets were a tremendous success and some of them had the wildest hairdos we've ever seen. We got a peek at the local talent on Thursday during a talent show. There were quite a few stand-up comedians — Johnny Carson, look out. And lots of songs and laughs. We also began preparing for Christmas (its only five months away you know) by making bread dough ornaments. It was a lengthy and messy project but well worth Friday, we packed lunches and found a sunny spot for a picnic. Afterwards we teamed up for a barn yard holler, one of our favorite activities. Next week we are planning a Pre-School Good Sports Day and a "Star Wars Day" including a short rip into space.

Bancroft

Training here at Bancroft has begun in order to shape up for the upcoming Good Sports competition. With the combined talent of Billy Batcheler, Candice Kirlise and families like the Murphys and the Daltons, we feel confident about the event. Games like bombardment and capture the flag have developed now to a semi-pro level here at Bancroft with stars like Beth and Maura Everett, Jamie Limber, Peter O'Leary and Jeremy Townsend giving us a show of talent never seen before.

A relatively new pastime here at Bancroft, Quick to become a favorite is "the poison peanut butter patch." The idea of the game is teamwork and Robert Manning, Jackie Dalton, John and Jim Saalf-rank, Justin Townsend, Greg Kinsky, Kyle McMannus, Melissa Kirlise, Kirsten Beigel, and Patrick MacNamara show us that they really know what it is to be a team.

Ballardvale

Monday the kids at the Ballardvale playground were busy sign up to the Good Sports competition. Tuesday was more good sports practice. Lisa Hayes and Michelle Bolin were very helpful in creating our human machine. Wednesday we visited the Sanborn playground. Scott Sar-cione, Bobby Nutter, Rejji Hayes and Todd Hughes really enjoyed the bombardment games. Amanda Hughes and Beth Ross created some beautiful bead jewelry

Pole Hill

McQuade appeared before the board to explain that six-inch pipes could not provide the necessary water flow for adequate fire protection for the new development.

The developer would not have to replace the existing six-inch main, McQuade said, but add the new eight-inch main up Center Street, or Pole Hill Drive, from the point where an existing 20-inch main ends, in Tewksbury Street near the railroad crossing. The new main would cost the developer about $15 per foot.

He emphasized that it is not unusual to depart from the 1973 master water plan: That plan is meant to provide a general plan for the town, and not deal with specific areas, McQuade said. The planners have bypassed the plan in regard to other developments in the past, he added.

And finally, Gravalles explained that abutters' claims that a cart path leading through the developer's parcel is a public way would have no bearing on the planners' approval of the subdivision.

In a letter to the chairman, Arnold said there was no evidence the path has ever been a public way, that the public had acquired the right to use it, or that certain individuals had private rights to use the path. Therefore, he advised the board to consider approving the plan without considering the cart path issue.

Both Ballardvale residents and Atty. Reginald Marden, representing Kalogianis, had submitted documents to Arnold supporting their views of the cart path issue.

Later Tuesday night, the board took a brief look at preliminary plans for a 22.3-acre subdivision off Ballardvale and Sunset Rock Roads, proposed by developer Wyncrest Associates. The parcel is part of a 100-acre site.

The developer would like to build 17 $200,000 homes around one long cul-de-sac in a cluster development, with a wetlands area left as open space. The development would include a septic system.

A public hearing will be held on the preliminary plans next Tuesday night, Aug. 11, at the Essex Street theatre building.

School Bonds

to finance the project by borrowing on bond anticipation notes. Town Treasurer Mike Muise said he would ask the board to sign another $800,000 to $1 million in notes during their Aug. 17 meeting.

The town has already borrowed $300,000 in bond anticipation notes, $200,000 last month, and $100,000 in March. The first notes were due this week; the second notes are due Dec. 30.

The selectmen will also look into the possibility of asking town meeting — possibly at a special fall meeting — to remove the 9½ percent restriction on the interest rate. "It would be to your advantage to change the interest rate," Begley said. "The minute you put restrictions on yourself, you're limiting your options."

Begley also suggested the alternative of offering smaller, $2 or $3 million bonds on the local market, rather than one $13 million issue on the national market. "Thirteen million is a lot for the financial community to absorb," he explained.

However, Muise said he would not recommend "splitting it up too much." Instead, the treasurer said the board might consider offering two $6.5 million issues.

In either case, Begley said he would not recommend selling the bonds for at least six months.

Clinic To Help School Athletes Get In Shape

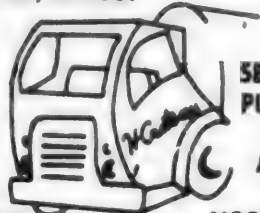

A Sports Conditioning Clinic for junior and senior high school boys and girls is being offered for the first time this summer at the Andover-North Andover YMCA. The main emphasis of this clinic is to increase cardiovascular fitness, strength training and flexibility. Class participants will learn proper principles of weight training on the universal gym, encounter daily endurance runs, stride workouts and sprints.

Part of the day will be devoted to the individual needs of each student, whatever sport he, she will be involved in (football, soccer, track). A swim will end each daily workout. This is an excellent opportunity to get into shape before the fall programs begin.

The program runs Aug. 10 through 21, two weeks of good hard workouts, Monday through Friday, from 9 to 12 each day.

For further information on this program, see Bob Lavoie, physical director.

A MORE SALABLE PACKAGE

If your house is for sale, there are a lot of little things you can do to make it more salable. First impressions count! Be sure your lawn is mowed, flower beds neat and property free of any trash. If it's winter, keep the walks clear of snow or ice. Replace loose tiles, bricks or shingles. If the paint is peeling, get out the brush. Peeling paint is a primary offender.

Inside, if the walls and woodwork are dirty, wash them. If marred, repaint where needed. Fix any leaking faucets, loose door knobs, creaking floors. Clear clutter out of closets and basement. Pick up clothes and put them away.

Pay special attention to the bathrooms and kitchen. Make them spotless. No dirty dishes in the sink. Nothing makes a better impression than a home with a well-cared-for look. There are countless other things you can do and nobody knows better what they are than your REALTOR. He's shown many houses and knows what turns prospects off. Take his advice.

Private Bus Service Is Explored

Independent school bus service for youngsters who would walk to school this fall under the mileage limits, continues to be explored by a group of Andover parents. But it won't become a reality until after the first week of school.

Transportation Assistant Kathleen Casey said this week that response to the independent service, which would cost an estimated $90 to $125 per year per child, has been hampered by the fact that so many people are away during the summer, and because a lot of parents have not realized that their youngsters are slated to become walkers (A list of "walking" streets appears on pages 16-18 in today's TOWNSMAN).

The parent representatives met last week with local drivers who are willing to help establish the independent service, and decided to send a sign-up sheet home with youngsters during the first week of school in hopes of adding to their numbers.

A week of walking or carpooling, Casey said, should give both parents and youngsters a better idea of what's ahead.

The cost, Casey said, is a big variable at the moment, because it is dependent upon the number of riders and the number of runs a bus would be able to make. Ideally, she said, a bus would take three loads: one secondary and two elementary. If three runs were made and all were reasonably full, the price would come in at the low end.

The entire bus fee would be paid in September, and kindergarten youngsters would be included for a one-way ride at half the yearly cost.

Kindergartners who live between a mile and a mile and a half from school have been given special attention by the school committee, and will continue to be bused to or from school at noon (from centralized neighborhood bus stops), but will have to walk with the older school children in the morning and after school.

Tina Girdwood, one of the parents involved in setting up the possible service, says that the bus drivers would be people who had driven here for many years, and that they would provide the same quality of services as buses under contract with the school department. Most likely they would be drivers who had lost routes because of the cutback in regular school bus service.

Casey said that parents who wish to express an interest in the independent service before school starts could call Jan

Brink of the Bancroft PTO or Girdwood, also in the Bancroft district; June Blake of the South School PTO; or Gail Campbell, Sanborn PTO.

Casey said two women on the east side of town had volunteered to help organize a high school route, but that volunteers are also needed from the east side for East Jr. High, and volunteers from the west side of town for both West Jr. High and the high school.

A Last Meeting At Stowe

The Andover School Committee most likely will be having its last session in the historic Stowe School Tuesday night.

The administrative offices are now

Down The Years

partment of public works — show such major changes as dead-ending North Main Street and wiping out a lot of McKenney Circle.

10 Years Ago — August 1971

Efforts of local officials and voters at town meeting to keep the amount of Andover's tax rate increase down this year at town meeting, have been overshadowed by the cost of state and county government. Cherry sheet figures, the amount of assessment to cities and towns for state and county costs, as well as a decrease in disbursements to the town, has resulted in an increased cost to the town of $159,453.97. This represents about $1 of the 1971 tax rate.

Sidewalks will be built along North Main Street from in front of the apartment complex to the existing walk in front of the Andover Companies. New sidewalks will be installed as part of the current road rebuilding program in the area being undertaken by the state department of public works.

scheduled to move out of Stowe next week to make way for its demolition: the school building project is literally going on all around the old building now.

On the committee's agenda are the busing, user fee and testing policies, as well as a first pass at the joint administration-school committee direction letter and release days for teachers.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.
